Title: Secure Distance Based Localization In The Presence of Cheating Beacon Nodes

Abstract: Secure distance based localization in the presence of cheating beacon nodes is an important problem in mobile wireless ad-hoc and sensor network. In the presence of cheating beacon nodes, how a data can be sent to a authentication node. In our paper we are going to find the beacon nodes by the time polynomial technique. In this technique we use the database to compare the time delay of the authentication node and cheating beacon node. Finally, we send the desired data through authentication to the receiver.
